

Abstract

An object of the present invention is to properly reflect user's intention changing in accordance with the watching condition so as to improve the convenience. A communication terminal according to the present invention

5 includes a broadcast processing portion 200 that reproduces contents; a call processing portion 100, an answering machine unit 301, an LCD 402 and an SP 403 that processes an incoming call; a history count storing memory 602 and a history count determining unit 601 that grasps watching condition of the contents being reproduced; and a controller 401 and an incoming call

10 accept/reject determining unit 501 that carries out the reproduction of the contents and the processing of the incoming call in an incoming call processing mode corresponding to the watching condition.